

“ we’re promoting
careers in adult social care ”

could you be a care ambassador...?

We need your help to update people considering career and job options and those that advise them to:

- gain a better understanding of care by talking about what you do in your role and your place of work
- show that care can be a rewarding career with great career progression and development opportunities
- ensure we attract the best people by supporting people to make an informed decision on whether they are right to work in care.

If you have experience of working in care you can apply to become a Care Ambassador.

Give as little as 4 hours of your time per year and in return have access to development and networking opportunities and promote the great work that goes on in your department or organisation.
